MANY AT CIRCLE BARK DANCE

The Lymington district was well represented at the wedding dance at Circle Bark on Thursday, November 24. The dancing was of the smiling sort, and the refreshments were of the best. The attendance and sundry pleasant remarks made by those present they all enjoyed themselves very much and are anticipating further dances there in the future.

We were glad to see Rev. S. Semple and his wife in Lymburn on Tuesday.

November 20. Mr. Semple held divine service in the Lambert school-house on that evening.

Mrs. J. Smith and her three children left on last Friday's train for her home in Hualien, after visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dodwell. Mrs. Dodwell accompanied her daughter to her home in Hualien.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Knudson and family arrived in Lymburn on Tuesday's train.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Strohliwsky left on Tuesday for Sexsmith.

Bill Phillips rode horseback to Beaver Lodge last Sunday, returning to Lymburn on Monday's freight.

Mr. Hay has been taking advantage of the warm days to get in a supply of wood.

Don't forget the dance on Friday, November 29, which is being put on by the Lymburn W. L. in the hall.

Frank and Nellie were having a fine time tobogganing the other day.

U. S. STRATOSPHERE FLIERS SET NEW RECORD

The long-awaited flight of the National Geographic Society's balloon into the stratosphere has at last taken place, and a new record has been broken. Under the guidance of Captain Albert Stevens, commander and scientific observer, and Captain Orville Anderson, pilot, the giant balloon with its tiny air-tight gondola sailed up through the stratosphere to a height of 74,000 feet and after eight hours aloft landed near White Lake, S.D., some 240 miles west of the balloon's base at Rapid City, S.D. Above is a close-up of the gondola in which Stevens and Anderson made the flight, while at the right of the picture is Captain Williams, ground officer. The other picture shows the huge balloon leaving the ground. The bag becomes completely inflated as the gas expands.

PARIS PARLEY TO CONSIDER FRANCO-GERMAN PACT

Far-reaching significance in European affairs is attached to the forthcoming conference in Paris between Premier Pierre Laval of France and Joachim von Ribbentrop, Chancellor Hitler's personal ambassador for the purpose of drawing up a Franco-German arms agreement. Such an agreement might create an open breach between France and Russia, however, because of the treaty negotiated by Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Foreign Minister, stipulating that neither France nor Russia will undertake a military pact with a third nation. Laval is known to oppose the Franco-Soviet treaty because of growing leftist sentiment in France. The forthcoming Paris conference is considered comparable in importance, in respect to Franco-German relations, to the treaties signed after the Franco-Prussian war and the Versailles Treaty following the World War.

The 1935 production of oats is estimated at 446,297,000 bushels—a 40 per cent increase over the 1934 harvest of 322,120,000 bushels. The 1935 barley crop is also estimated much larger than that of 1934, namely 94,550,000 bushels compared with 67,742,000 bushels in 1934—an increase of 38 per cent.

A 23 per cent increase in the production of hay and clover in 1935 for the whole of Canada is estimated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The combined yield of these crops was 15,788,000 tons compared with 11,174,000 tons in 1934. Most of the increase is accounted for by good harvests in Ontario and the Prairie Provinces.

BOOK TALK

The Provincial Lady: At Home and Abroad. E. M. Delafield.

An altogether delightful book, Miss Delafield draws a charming and amusing picture of English country life and of the struggles of a wife and mother to follow a career. Her vicissitudes as a speaker for the Women's Institute and as lecturer in America and Canada form chapters packed with comedy. Most mothers will ruefully agree with her observations concerning one's own children and those of other people, while her inability to make ends meet will cause a Glenside Bank Account to balance, or Wave to remain set, will draw heartfelt sympathy from Provincial Ladies everywhere.

Best American Mystery Stories. Introduction by Carolyn Wells.

Carolyn Wells in her introduction points out that from time immemorial mystery stories have entertained and interested mankind—"before the time of old fables, before the sipping was woven or Sanson born"—"To trace the origin and history of man's mind; study the mystery story and legends of succeeding ages."

Among the collected stories, "The Impudent Thief" is the most unusual and artistically written, but they all serve to hold one's attention and interest in the moments required to be spent in relaxation.

J. Hunter Returns Home After Four Months In Timber

Describes Scenery as Wonderful and Fishing the Finest in the World; Wolves Very Plentiful

Looking like a real trapper, Jack Hunter arrived in town last week after spending some four months in the timber southeast of Grande Prairie.

Of course the first place that Jack visited when he struck town was the barber shop to get trimmed up and to get rid of a rather profuse growth of what he called "daffs."

In conversation with The Tribune reporter Jack who went out with Winston Tibbitt, who traps every season, said that at first, he got used to it, he said. "Then I did not mind it."

He stated that timber wolves were numerous and their howls made night hideous.

Jack replied that he employed some of his time at that sport. "And what fish," he added, "if you want real fish, that is the country to get them."

It was up to him to clean and cook the fish. He did a good job of it," he said. "Well," he replied, "I guess I got by all right."

Life in the timber was described as most attractive and wonderful. "I never had a cold all the time I was out," observed Jack, in summing up his experience.

ROBIN DECIDES TO SPEND WINTER IN GRANDE PRAIRIE

A lone robin, which evidently missed the flight south, is wintering in Grande Prairie, making its home in the southern portion of town. It is reported that the bird is hopping about as though spring were in the air. It may be that the bird concluded that this country would experience a mild winter to itself.

"What is the use of flying south and back again? Why not save the energy? I will be here to greet the other robins in the spring and get all the news of the southern countries."

It is to be hoped that the bird is right in its conclusion.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

At all Christian Science churches next Sunday the subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Ancient and Modern Science, Alms, Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced."

The following is one of the scriptural quotations in the Lesson-Sermon: "For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh, but they that are after the spirit mind the things of the spirit. For to be carnally minded is death, but to be spiritually minded is life and peace." (Romans 8:5, 6).

One of the correlative passages from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, is as follows (page 318): "The material senses originate and support all that is material, untrue, selfish, or debased. They will not put life into life, life into limbo, and deem all things to decay. We must silence this life of material sense, the craft of the spiritual sense. We must cause the spirit to cease that brought the belief of sin and death and would efface the pure sense of omnipotence."

HUMAN DISEASES TRANS-MISSIBLE THROUGH MILK

In discussing the human diseases, it is desired to consider three types of infection, the first, in which the infection of the milk or water may be direct, as in typhoid fever; the second, in which the infection may be indirect from men in children, to the milk of cows, as in septic throat and scarlet fever.

Third such as contagious abortion in cows, which caused the death of several people last year in the West. Bacteria abortion disease does constitute a certain danger to human health, but it can be greatly reduced by frequent blood tests, same as bovine tuberculosis.

The Circle Bank Dairy herd of Grande Prairie is not only tested three times per year for tuberculosis but is also tested by the Provincial Laboratory once per year for Bang's disease with gratifying results as to the quality of its purity as non-contaminated milk.

MISS STANWYCK CONQUERS
FEAR OF HORSE FOR FILM

Star of "The Woman in Red" Was Thrown and Badly Injured Three Years Ago

"It isn't life that matters; it's the courage we bring to it,"—Walpole. The pain-cracked girl in the hospital bed put down her book thoughtfully when she read the above lines, and stared thoughtfully over the tops of the palm trees to the blue California sky.

There were thousands of girls in the world, she knew, who envied her for being Barbara Stanwyck, screen star and idol of all those who watched her shadowy image on the silver screen.

These same girls probably knew of the accident that sent their favorite star to the hospital, for Barbara had been injured while making a scene for one of her pictures. A horse she was riding had stumbled while galloping, throwing his actress rider.

Miss Stanwyck was in a plaster cast for some weeks following this mishap. During those long painful hours she kept the Walpole quotation firmly in her troubled mind.

"It isn't life that matters; it's the courage we bring to it,"

These were wise words, thought Barbara. They were words to remember as long as she lived.

In the three or four years that have elapsed since Barbara's initial hospital experience (and that accident was far more serious than Hollywood believed), she has had plenty of occasion to remember them.

During the filming of her new first National drama, "The Woman in Red," showing next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre, Grande Prairie, the star forcefully demonstrated that same courage.

The picture presents Miss Stanwyck as an impoverished Kentucky society girl, who turns professional rider for a wealthy horseman. Barbara was naive enough to realize that it was an excellent role for her, even though it demanded that she ride horses throughout the picture.

For Miss Stanwyck, since the time of that first accident, has been a small afraid of horses. She hadn't been near a horse in three years until that day, at the exclusive Los Angeles breakfast club, when she was photographed riding in a horse show for "The Woman in Red."

She hadn't realized how terrified

she would become when she first set her foot in the stirrups.

"I kept thinking of that second vertebra," she grinned, after the scene had been safely filmed, "and wondering if this horse, too, would find a convenient spot to step into!"

But in spite of that terrified first moment, Barbara mounted her horse and with a lay laugh rode about the ring, apparently at ease. Inwardly, a tiny voice must have been whispering, "It's the courage we bring to it."

CONTRACT WITH CHEVALIER
HELPED WIN SCREEN RIGHTS TO "FOLIES BERGERE"

In filming "Folies Bergere" Darryl F. Zanuck has brought to the screen for the first time the most widely renowned of all musical productions.

Not even the Starlight Palace at this height could boast the international fame enjoyed by France's foremost theatrical institution which for more than forty years has drawn its visitors from the four corners of the globe.

Hollywood producers have long sought the film rights to "Folies Bergere." When, last year, the rights were capitulated to the demands of the screen, Zanuck was the first to film it for 20th Century Pictures by outbidding all competition.

The fact that he held a contract with Maurice Chevalier to play the starring role in the production played no small part in Zanuck's gaining the permission of the French directors of this great musical spectacle. For Chevalier was the star of the Folies Bergere and it was there that he first gained fame as the partner of the incomparable Mistinguette.

The film, incidentally, offers Chevalier fans a double treat. For when it unrolls on the screen of the Capitol Theatre, Grande Prairie, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, and the affable French star will be seen in his first dual role, as his eye-straining singing self and as an amorous, mis-matched, be-moaned French harem when he impersonates the stage of the Folies Bergere and in real life as well.

Crowned heads, statesmen, industrialists, and wielders of great wealth have constituted the brilliant galaxy of Folies Bergere audiences. Behind its footlights a dazzling array of personalities have displayed their talents—Gaby Deslys, Anna Held, the Dolly Sisters, Cécile Sorel, Yvonne Printemps, and many others. Duets to Maurice Chevalier have been the favorite of its chorus beauties. Its musical ensembles have been talked about and copied everywhere. Its stars have gone forth to conquer the theatrical world.

The sumptuous and spectacular musical numbers for which it is internationally famous are being brought to the screen version staged by Dave Gould, who made film history with the musical "The Great Waltz" and "The Continental" in "The Gay Divorcee."

Ann Southern and Merle Oberon share feminine honors heading the supporting cast of this Joseph M. Schenck presentation, which Roy Del Ruth directed from a screen play by Ruth Merveth and Noel Lee. "Folies Bergere" is released through United Artists.

SALVATION ARMY HOLDS
ROUSING MEETINGS UNDER
MAJOR AND MRS. ACTON

On Monday afternoon Major Acton gave a set of lantern slides, entitled "The Pilgrim's Progress," and on Tuesday an illustrated talk, both of these meetings were attended by large crowds of children.

Major and Mrs. Acton left on Tuesday for Peace River, where they are conducting a six days campaign.

POPULAR BEAVER LODGE AND DEMMITT COUPLE WED

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Frost on Tuesday, November 26, when their eldest daughter, Blanche Elaine, was united in marriage to Norman Beaver, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Stubbs of Beaver Lodge, Rev. W. H. Moss of Hyle officiated.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was dressed in a pretty gown of white satin, and carried a bouquet of lilies and fern. She was attended by her sister, Evelyn, who wore a pink crepe dress.

The bridegroom was attended by the bride's uncle, Stewart Bennett. Gifts of the bridegroom were to the bride a string of pearls, to the bridesmaid a silver ring, and to the best man a watch.

Complete Range of Fine Recordings Now in Stock—Premier British Artists and Bands Included—New Supply From New York.

EDMONTON, Nov. 28.—Presenting a variety of performance never before equaled, Program Director Bill Craton of CJCA, Edmonton, reports the arrival of a shipment of brilliantly new English and American recordings, ranging from the old Christmas favorites, sung and played by foremost British chorals and ensembles, to the more popular dance music of the day, as created by the better known English dance bands. This new supply will do much to augment CJCA's already very fine library.

"Red Sails in the Sunset," Sung by Grace Fields

The new song hit, "Red Sails in the Sunset," sung by Grace Fields, listeners, either as played by Phil Spector's Accordion Band, or as sung by the vocalists of the new release, Esquire Magazine, in reviewing the melody, refers to it as one of the finest song hits of the year. And the composer is the man who made such a sensation with the "Sail of Capt. Jack," and "The Blue Bird." "Red Sails in the Sunset," you'll hear it a lot.

Recent releases received by CJCA from New York are some of Bing Crosby's latest releases, including "The Breeze," "I Wish on a Star," and "The Moon."

British dance bands, choirs, concert ensembles, all are featured in this new stock of imported recordings. The collection is a real winter of music and better programs.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Japanese military moves in North China led Britain today officially to ask Japan to indicate its exact intentions. A note embodying this direct question was handed to the Japanese foreign office in Tokyo by the British chargé d'affaires. Japanese seizure of North China, and the new moves, are heavy British interests, or the establishment of Japanese control over those railways would create a situation which Britain could not ignore, it was indicated.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 28.—War talk cropped up throughout Central China today as a result of Japanese military operations to force North China autonomy. Informed sources said the Japanese military movement had gone so far that little possibility remained of a compromise with the Nationalist government. Nanking officials, however, continued negotiations with Japanese diplomats. Japanese forces in the north continued to hold the important rail junction point at Fengtai, east of Peking.

OTTAWA, Nov. 28.—Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Labor, announced today the appointment of a special commission to investigate the causes of the camps for single unemployed and report on a suggested basis for carrying them out. The department's chief, he said, is to see that the men are not engaged in unskillful work under satisfactory conditions.

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Nov. 28.—Investigation revealed the messages heard by the New Zealand cruiser Dairin on Wednesday had been sent from the Wyatt Earp, Ellsworth's base ship, in an effort to contact the liner and his command. The Wyatt Earp moved on Wednesday night to an Antarctic ice field, in accordance with a pre-arranged plan to establish rescue bases in the event Ellsworth encountered an alarming period of time.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 28.—Twenty tanks will be ordered to proceed to the Egyptian-Libyan border to reinforce the Egyptian garrison. Major-General Spinks, Canadian, is inspector-general of the Egyptian army.

GENOVA, Nov. 28.—League of Nations general assembly tightened financial sanctions against Italy today by ruling all goods purchased in Italy should be paid for immediately. It further ruled even a delay of 15 days for the payment of merchandise should be deemed a forfeiture of credit and should be forbidden.

ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 28.—It was reported on good authority here Wednesday night that the Ethiopian military command was planning a dual drive against the Italian troops in the northern and southern fronts. More than fifty thousand men were mustered on the southern front, and a force estimated at more than fifty thousand was assembling in the mountains to track back the invaders.

EDMONTON, Nov. 28.—All wholesale and retail merchants in Alberta will be licensed by the provincial government beginning January 1. It was announced today by Premier Abernethy. The move, it was said, is to bring the province into line with the merchants, themselves, and in some quarters is regarded as a preliminary to a system of merchandising codes of minimum or fixed prices on specific products in Alberta. It is expected the cost of the licenses, though not revealed, to be about three dollars each.

TSINGHAI, Nov. 27.—The Japanese army seized control of all railway arteries in Hopei province today. Chinese reports said a squadron of Japanese fighting planes are momentarily expected at Tientsin, where the Japanese are hastening completion of a North China air base.

EDMONTON, Nov. 27.—Promotion of new drilling for oil and gas in Alberta will be encouraged by rebate of part of the royalties, it was announced today.

TOKIO, Nov. 28.—A son was born today to the Empress Nagako of Japan, becoming the second in line of succession to the throne.

HEALTH

HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION
INSURANCE COMPANIES
IN CANADA

WHEN?

There is a time for everything, and there are times when medical care offers most in the prevention of disabilities which are a handicap, taking much of the joy out of living.

This statement is prompted by the findings of a recent study which shows how very few women return to their mother, three or four months after the birth of a baby for a final examination.

The examination is one which should never be neglected. It assures the future health of the mother, and it allows for the discovery of the minor abnormal conditions which may be present as a result of birth at a time when prompt treatment will correct them.

It seems difficult for most people to grasp the idea that medical care may be required although they feel quite well. Not so long ago people went to their dentist only when they had a tooth-ache. Now we consider that the person who waits until his teeth ache before visiting his dentist is a rather stupid individual.

The mother, busy with her new baby, does not realize that she may need medical advice. Even if she does not feel just right, she will likely perceive herself that there is nothing wrong. In fact, her physical condition is all right in time. Time is a great healer of sorrow, but time does not in itself heal physical disabilities.

Childbirth is a normal process, but nevertheless it is a strain on the usual effort, with the result that some damage may result. The more complete the prenatal care, and the more diligent the post-natal care, the less the damage. The only way to be sure, in such particular case, that recovery has been complete, is to have the mother pass through the regular routine examinations.

A great deal is said, and quite rightly, about maternal mortality. All will agree that pregnancy should be made safe. But pregnancy should be made more than safe; it should also be made as comfortable as possible for the mother. Furthermore, our goal should not only be "Healthy Babies," but equally as "Healthy Mothers." The post-natal examination is an essential part of the service which aims to keep the mother healthy and to ensure that her baby is not destroyed or minimized as a result of her pregnancy.

One time to secure a medical examination is after the birth of a baby to make sure that the mother has returned to a normal condition.

Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

TIENTSIN, Nov. 28.—This city was taking on the aspects of an armed camp today as Japanese troops moved in while Chinese forces were withdrawn from the Tientsin-Peking area. The Japanese were rushing a huge air base to completion, preparing for establishment of squadrons of aeroplanes. Simultaneously Japanese soldiers were busily stringing military lines through the streets, these lines connecting with Tientsin, where two Japanese destroyers have arrived.

BERLIN, Nov. 28.—Japanese military attaches and war experts from every port in Europe were en route to Berlin today for an all-Japanese conference to open Saturday. The conference greatly interests military and political observers.
